The recently articulated “Responsibility to Protect” doctrine refers to the duty of the international community to prevent and stop the commission of crimes against humanity, genocide and other serious human rights violations, especially when the state where the atrocities take place is involved in their commission or cannot stop them. This panel will discuss this doctrine by analyzing the ongoing situation in Syria.