

Carnegie Council
Alex J. Bellamy, John Tessitore
16 February 2009

The following interview of Alex Bellamy of the Asia-Pacific Center for the Responsibility to Protect took place at the Carnegie Council, a New York based think tank devoted to ethical leadership in matters of peace, conflict, and social justice. The interview was conducted for the Carnegie Councils Quarterly Journal, Ethics and International Affairs. In the interview, Alex Bellamy discusses the challenges in operating in the Asia-Pacific region, the need to have UN and regional consensus on R2P, and the work of Special Advisor to the Secretary General Edward Luck. Alex Bellamy is the recent author of he Responsibility to Protect, which shows the evolution of the norm and the challenges remaining.

Source: <http://www.cceia.org/resources/transcripts/0123.html>