

Francis Deng and John Prendergast on Genocide Prevention

Enough Project 24 May 2011 (...) Under-Secretary General Francis Deng, the United Nations Special Adviser on the Prevention of Genocide, and Enough Co-Founder John Prendergast engaged in a conversation on genocide prevention in a panel hosted by the U.N. Department of Public Information and Facing History and Ourselves. In the two hour-long discussion, Deng and Prendergast reflect on the tools and capacity the international community has developed in the ongoing effort to keep the 'never again' pledge. (...)

See the video of the conference

here