

Sudan 365

Global Day of Action in preparation for Sudan’s first multi party elections for over 20 years, to take place April 11th On January 9th 2010 a global drumbeat echoed around the world as people across Europe, Africa, the Middle East and the Americas came together to call on their governments to prevent a return to severe and widespread conflict in Sudan. Communities in over 15 countries gathered to participate in a global ‘beat for peace’ which marked the launch of Sudan 365 - a year-long campaign, calling on world leaders assist Sudanese parties reach a peaceful resolution to the challenges facing their country in the run up to the a landmark referendum in January 2011 in which the South will decide whether to separate from the North.

The next Global Day of Action will be held on 10 April. You can organize a public drumming event, market drumming for the Day of Action at other events or public spaces, or simply film yourself drumming with instruments, pots and pans, or anything else you have. You can also join “

Sudan Watch

” and let world leaders know that violence in Sudan is unacceptable and must be stopped.

Join us on facebook at Sudan365: A beat for peace

Join us on twitter

Visit

Sudan365

for more details.